Anna University is a premier technological University in India. It is committed to provide excellent and effective engineering education to enhance the technical and analytical skills as well as the moral standards of the student community. The University has been pioneering in Engineering Education and Technology development to remain abreast in many frontier areas. Besides promoting research and disseminating knowledge gained there from, it fosters cooperation between the academic and industrial communities. The University has established collaborative research programmes with world class institutions from various countries.

ABOUT CFPD

To improve the quality of education, it has become essential to improve the teaching skills and knowledge of the teachers in the subjects they teach. The Centre for Faculty Development started by Anna University now retitled as Centre for Faculty & Professional Development (CFPD) conducts faculty development training programmes to cater to the needs of faculty members. The Centre trains the teachers to plan and prepare the lessons, understand the subject contents and improve the teaching quality. These programmes are conducted during the Summer / Winter Vacations to enable the teachers to participate and benefit. The resource persons are experienced faculty members from the University and also experts from the industry.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Chemical Engineering was started in the year 1944 in A. C. College of Technology under the University of Madras. Later in September 1978, the Department was transferred into the newly established Anna University, a unitary type of University. The Department of Chemical Engineering offers UG programmes in Chemical Engineering and Three PG programmes (Chemical Engineering, Petroleum Refining and Petrochemicals and Environment Science and Technology).

The Programmes are designed to facilitate students in understanding, developing, integrating and applying different areas of technology to process industries. Over the period of years the areas of research have moved in tandem with the developments in the chemical engineering world. Active interaction with the industry has been maintained over the years and the department has been collaborating with several industries through consultancy services. The main objective of the Department is to cultivate knowledge among young minds and motivate the need for research in frontier areas. The students will be exposed to a length and breadth of experimental techniques and to provide a broad foundation in scientific reasoning and analytical problem solving.

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVE

This Faculty Development Programme (FDP) is designed to provide the educators with comprehensive skills and knowledge about Biochemical Engineering. The program aims to enhance teaching proficiency and foster a deeper understanding of the interdisciplinary relationship among Biochemistry, Medical biochemistry, Bioprocesses, Fermentation, Biochemical processes, Enzyme technology, Bio separation and Bioreactor design. Sessions will be handled by experienced faculty members from reputed institutions and experts from R & D organization and related industries.
