Company profile

Vinformax systems is made up of highly successful individuals with rich international experience in Asia, the Middle East, Europe and the US, in industries ranging from Information Technology, Fast Moving Consumer Goods, Aggregates and Financial Services. Whether it is business process study or systems implementation or launching complex financial products, we have had first-hand experience in many of the challenges an organization like yours may face. This gives us an edge to give you solutions that work in practice, not just theory. We are not your regular consultants who give you a high-level view of what you already know, in a flashy document, with a wordy disclaimer clause as an escape route. We get under the skin of our clients' issues, suggest and execute plans as though our clients' business were our own. Based out of London, our list of satisfied clients ranges from small businesses to multi-million dollar companies, spread across India, UK and the US. We believe in boundary-less working - be it in terms of functionality or geography.
